Muscat Forces Capture Rebel Iman's Capital

British-Led Troops Seize Nizwa

MANAMA, Bahrain, Aug. 11 (P)—The British-led forces of the Sultan of Muscat and Oman today captured Nizwa, capital of the rebellious Iman of Oman.

Under cover of bombers and jets, the wild-looking desert soldiers of the Sultan swept through the clutter of mud huts surrounding ancient Ft. Nizwa and led khaki-clad Trucial Oman Scouts and the British troops into the rebel stronghold.

M'Clellan Plans To Brief Senate On Labor Probe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (P)—Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) plans to tell the Senate in a speech soon that his Rackets Investigating Committee has exposed loopholes in federal laws which have helped labor rackets to flourish.

Well-placed sources said today the senator will outline in general terms some of the findings the committee will spell out more fully in a later official report, including a need for some tough new laws.

McClellan himself told newsmen that while testimony already taken "clearly indicates" the need for legislation, he does not expect that the committee will make any formal legislative recommendations before the present session of Congress adjourns.

McClellan says it is still too early to tell just what new legislation is needed, but he has said repeatedly something must be done to give the government more power to expose and punish the mishandling of union funds.

The Labor Department says it now lacks authority to even question whether financial reports filed by unions under the Taft-Hartley Act are accurate.

Other members of the Rackets Committee which McClellan heads are widely split on proposals to bring antitrust laws into play as a weapon to curb the power of ambitious union officials.

The main target toward which the committee has been aiming is James R. Hoffa, Midwest boss of the Teamsters Union. Hoffa is spearheading a drive to weld all transportation unions into a giant new labor combine even while McClellan is accusing him of corrupt dealings with racketeer Johnny Dio of New York. Hoffa is expected to be a witness in the next week or two.

Woman Appeals To Khrushchev

PARIS, Aug. 11 (P)—A French woman, separated from her Russian husband for 12 years, has appealed for help to Soviet party chief Nikita Khrushchev, now touring East Germany.

"I am heartbroken. Still without news of my husband. Please permit him to see us," Mrs. Yvonne Yafarova said in a telegram to the Soviet boss.

During the 1955 Big Four summit meeting in Geneva, Mrs. Yafarova threw herself in front of the car carrying Khrushchev and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin to attract their attention. Subsequently she was given the address of her husband in Russia by Soviet authorities but was later informed he was in residence under surveillance and could not correspond with her.

When she tried to visit him in his village she was told he had to furnish proof of being able to shelter her.

Mrs. Yafarova and her husband met during World War II when he, an escaped Soviet prisoner, fought with the French underground against the Nazis. They were married in 1945. After the war Yafarova decided to go back to Russia to avoid being listed as a deserter. He planned to return to France later. His wife has not heard from him since.

Soviet Youth Festival Ends In Pageantry

47 Americans Plan To Visit Red China As Peiping's Guests

MOSCOW, Aug. 11 (P)—Moscow's 15-day World Youth Festival ended tonight with colorful pageantry in Lenin Stadium, coupled with a plea to the 34,000 delegates to continue a campaign against nuclear weapons.

More than 10,000 Russians and their guests jammed the stadium for the formal ending of the festival, which had mixed youth from both sides of the Iron Curtain in meetings and athletic events.

Bruno Bernini, Italian president of the Communist-sponsored World Federation of Democratic Youth, appealed to the visitors to return atomic and hydrogen bombs.

U.S. Group Split On China Trip
Most national groups will begin their homeward journey together Monday, but the U.S. group was split over a trip to Red China which is opposed by the U.S. State Department.

Forty-seven of the 150 Americans were packing for the eastward trip Wednesday as guests of Red China's government. They were turning their passports over to Red Chinese authorities tonight for visas.

The others began leaving for home or for schools in Western Europe where they have been studying.

The entire U.S. group came here against the advice of the State Department. Those going to Peiping are doing so in defiance of State Department regulations.

Some Fear Repercussions

Some who are not going said they would have liked to tour the Chinese mainland for three weeks but feared repercussions at home, including possible lifting of their passports.

Those who are going said they are willing to take their chances so they can see China under communism, something few Americans have done.

The split has caused hundreds of arguments over the merit of the Red China trip. But although the group included people with all shades of political opinion, it appeared that only one American may remain here as a defector.

Bertha Proves Friend In Need

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 11 (P)—Tropical storm Bertha had more friends than enemies in Texas today after bringing much needed rain to dry cotton and sorghum fields.

Bertha, a much-feared hurricane churning in the Gulf of Mexico Friday, swept through Texas yesterday causing rains up to 12.8 inches in eastern Texas. She was kind compared to Hurricane Audrey which killed more than 500 persons in Louisiana and 11 in Texas only six weeks ago. There was little property damage in Texas from Bertha's rains or winds.

A. B. Jolley, former Dallas County agricultural agent, called Bertha "the finest thing that could have happened." He said the rains were "very welcome and we need more."

Jolley, now agriculture specialist for the Dallas Times Herald, said crops were suffering from a lack of moisture in the top soil. He said cotton, the big cash crop in eastern Texas, and grain sorghum had not finished maturing and needed the rain.

Nixon Expected To Back Knowland In Calif. Race

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (P)—Vice President Nixon has told friends the Republicans can't win in 1960 without California. And for that reason he says he will actively support the strongest candidate for the Republican nomination for governor there next year.

Although Nixon has committed himself to no one at this point, the solid assumption among his associates is that he will back the expected bid of Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) to take next year's nomination away from GOP Gov. Goodwin J. Knight.

Knowland has said he will not seek re-election to the Senate. Unless all signs fail he will announce at a press conference in California next month that he will go after the nomination for governor.

With Nixon in his corner, Knowland could count on support from the overwhelming majority of the California GOP delegation in Congress in what is already beginning to shape up as a torrid 1958 primary battle.

Nixon's prospective support of Knowland is based on a twofold premise: 1 that a Democratic administration in California in 1960 would increase his own difficulties in bidding for the GOP presidential nomination and 2, that with the Democrats in control of the state, California could not be counted as likely to be in the Republican column in the 1960 presidential election.

Nixon knows any support he gives to help elect Knowland as governor would enhance Knowland's position to challenge Nixon for the top nomination in 1960.

On this point, Nixon takes the view that any man who develops sufficient popular support can't be sidetracked from becoming a candidate for the presidential nomination.

Inciso, Racket Inquiry Target, To 'Talk Loud'

CHICAGO, Aug. 11 (P)—Angelo Inciso, ex-convict union leader who has been a target of both congressional committees and gangland bullets, said today he is going to talk — "and talk loud."

He said he can prove he paid a $2,000 bribe to an AFL official. Inciso said he plans to testify "by invitation" in the current hearings in Washington of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

"I've got a lot to say," he told a reporter. "And it should be very interesting."

Inciso's name cropped up in the hearings Friday alongside those of gangster Johnny Dio and Anthony Doria. Earl Heaton, outgoing president of the AFL-CIO Allied Industrial Workers, testified the three men set $396,000 in 1954 as their price for leaving the union, then known as the AFL-United Auto Workers Union.

Heaton testified further that Inciso was allowed to take along a Chicago local with assets of $300,000 when he departed. He continues as president of the local, now known as Amalgamated Local 286, United Industrial Workers of America (Ind.) claiming 6,000 general factory workers as members.

Inciso said that among the things he intends to tell the Senate committee is a "juicy item" about a $2,000 check he gave several years ago to a man who was then an AFL official. This was a bribe to get the AFL "off my back—quit trying to muscle me out of my own union," Inciso declared.

Man Sets Off Blast Killing Three, Self

YREKA, Calif., Aug. 11 (P)—A man angered over a wife beating sentence blasted himself, his two children and a son-in-law to death today with a mighty dynamite charge, the sheriff's office reported.

Dead were Wilbur Smith, 47; his son, Ted 16; his daughter, Mrs. Charlotte Sturges, 20, and her husband, Doug Sturges, 25.

Mrs. Clara Smith, 45, the wife, was in a house nearby and suffered only shock.

Undersheriff George Banich said: "We're definitely labelling it murder and suicide."

Meany Aide Critical

NEW YORK, Aug. 11 (P)—Roland Thomas, an assistant to George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, was reported in critical condition today in Bellevue Hospital.

Thomas, 57, of Washington, D.C. was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage late yesterday en route to Idlewild Airport.

Fake Bomb Calls Delay Airliners

CHICAGO, Aug. 11 (P)—Four airliners were searched for bombs today after two anonymous phone calls to airlines.

The FBI, recently assigned to track down bomb hoaxers, was notified, the airlines said. A law passed by the current Congress makes imparting of false information of this nature a federal crime punishable by a year's imprisonment and a fine of $1,000.

Today's hoaxes resulted in the recall of one Northwest Airlines plane which had left Chicago for Minneapolis with 50 passengers and four crewmen aboard, and a two-hour flight delay while the plane was searched. A second Northwest plane with 15 passengers and a crew of three aboard, which arrived at Minneapolis a few minutes after the fake phone call was received in Chicago also was searched, but no bomb found.

United Air Lines reported that two of its planes, south bound for Seattle, were searched following fake bomb threats.

Boy, 6, Rescued From Cliff Face

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif., Aug. 11 (P)—Except for a few scratches on his legs, 6-year-old Terry Wayne Dunbar was as "good as new" today after his perilous rescue yesterday from the granite face of Yosemite Falls.

The Portland, Ore., boy was trapped overnight Friday — more than 14 hours in all — in a crevice so small he could neither stand nor sit comfortably. Almost straight below was a sheer drop of several hundred feet to the valley floor. Terry stayed very still. He lay down.

His mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bivens, watched with their hearts in their mouths far below while Ranger Dick Pack dangled from a rope on the rock face, clutched the 60-pound lad in his arms and both were hauled to the top by Rangers Frank Doig and Jack Morehead, using a tree for leverage.

25 Nuns Stricken; Typhoid Indicated

OLDENBURG, Ind., Aug. 11 (P)—Twenty-five Catholic nuns at the Sisters of St. Francis mother-house here are ill today with possible typhoid fever.

About 500 others who staff the convent or who were here recently for retreats have taken first vaccinations and are due for two more shots later this month.

A local physician said two of the nuns are in serious condition. State Board of Health officials are conducting tests of the nuns' food and water supplies to determine whether the disease is typhoid. A state physician said an answer is expected tomorrow.

Garment Union Leader Denies Tieup With Dio

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (P)—President David Dubinsky of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union today flatly denied Senate Rackets Committee testimony linking him and the ILGWU to labor racketeer Johnny Dio.

Dubinsky said in a sworn affidavit filed with Rackets Committee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) that he never met Dio and, instead, has been in the forefront of efforts to oust Dio from organized labor and to rid labor of all other corrupt elements.

"My record is clear," Dubinsky said, "that far from having had even the remotest connection with Dio or his ilk, I am a sworn enemy of him and every other racketeer in the labor movement."

Recalling that he got punched in the nose at a convention of the former AFL in 1940 for proposing a labor cleanup then, Dubinsky said in the affidavit: "I can assure the committee that I will no more be stopped by the smears of the underworld and their fellow-travelers in 1957 than I was stopped by their tists in 1940."

Dio, now in a New York jail awaiting sentence on a shakedown conviction, has been described in testimony as an underworld character who wormed his way into the labor movement and helped Midwest Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa seize control of the New York area Teamsters Union apparatus.

Lester Washburn, retired president of the old AFL United Auto Workers Union, now the AFL-CIO Allied Industrial Workers, testified in the rackets hearings here last week that Dubinsky asked him to oust Dio from the UAW but would give no help.

Newspaperless Sunday Not To Bostonians' Liking

BOSTON, Aug. 11 (P)—Proper Bostonians were caught in a local newspaper blackout today and they didn't like it a bit.

Frantic fumbling of radio and TV dials in an effort to grasp newscasts was the theme of the day for many of Greater Boston's 2½ million residents.

Six of the city's seven dailies suspended publication Friday night when 300 mailers, subordinate members of the International Typographical Union, set up picket lines in a wage dispute.

Affected are the morning and evening Boston Globe, the Boston Herald, the Boston Traveler, and the Hearst Corp.'s Daily Record and Evening American. Their combined circulation is 1,250,000.

Storm Halts All Further Operations

GRINDELWALD, Switzerland, Aug. 11 (P)—A daring Alpinist, swinging at the end of a cable, today rescued a young climber trapped for several days on the icy north wall of Eiger Mountain. Sudden blizzards and thunderstorms cut short efforts to save his three companions.

Two Germans, last reported clinging to a narrow ledge 1,200 feet from the summit of the 13,036-foot peak, were now missing from the vast rock face.

A spokesman for the rescue service tonight identified the rescuer as Alfred Hellpart, a German guide who twice was lowered at the end of a winch-operated cable and returned the second time with one of the two Italian members of the climber group strapped to his back.

The rescuer came down accurately on his second winch-controlled drop. He had to tie Cordi to his back after the Italian weakened in an attempt to go up alone with the cable.

Pulley System Utilized

When the winch failed to haul their combined weight, 15 men at the summit used a pulley system to bring the pair the rest of the way. Cordi asked for water on reaching the top. Then he collapsed from exhaustion.

The missing men, Guenther Nothdruff, 27, of Geisslingen, and Goetz Meier, 26, of Rottweil, were believed to be near exhaustion and at least one of them is suffering from serious burns as the result of a rope slipping through his hands.

The least incapacitated of the four men, Claudio Cordi, 29, of Lecco, Italy, was brought to the summit before the weather broke. He received first aid at the top of the mountain and a rescue party was carrying him down by an easier route through the snowstorm tonight.

The storm came on suddenly and made all further rescue attempts impossible. It also shrudged the entire rock face in thick fog which prevented any effort to locate the two Germans or determine whether the fourth man, 44-year-old Stefano Longhi, also of Lecco, was still alive.

Weather Forecast Unfavorable

Longhi was injured by a rock fall earlier and remained suspended from a rope some 300 feet below the ledge where the three others had been sheltering the past two days.

As long as the weather was favorable, the trapped men were under constant observations from planes of the Swiss Mountain Rescue Service and telescopes located in the valley below.

The storm also interrupted radio communications with most of the rescue groups. The weather forecast for tomorrow was unfavorable, and local guides said all rescue attempts would be out of the question unless the weather improves.

Japan Will Export First Cars To U. S.

TOKYO, Aug. 11 (P)—Three medium-sized Japanese motor cars will be shipped late this month as samples to the United States.

The deluxe sedan manufactured by Toyota Motor Co. of Koromo, will be the first made-in-Japan automobiles to be exported to the United States.

Lester Washburn, retired president of the old AFL United Auto Workers Union, now the AFL-CIO Allied Industrial Workers, testified in the rackets hearings here last week that Dubinsky asked him to oust Dio from the UAW but would give no help.

Out-of-town newspapers were quickly snapped up at newsstands and drug stores. Purchasers had to be early since no additional editions were received. At the city's railroad terminals — North and South stations — out-of-town newspapers were sold as soon as they arrived.

Passengers arriving on incoming trains, who discarded papers on station benches, were smiled upon like blood donors. "Everyone's a scavenger when it comes to a paper today," a railroad policeman observed.

Some lucky youngsters were able to read the "funnies," however. Generous newsdealers in scattered sections passed the comic sections out free. Comic sections are distributed in advance and usually combined with the news sections on Sunday.

Canadian Vets Holiday Ends In Fiery Death

All Aboard London To Montreal Plane Perish Near Quebec

MONTREAL, Aug. 11 (P)—A Maritime Central Airways plane bound from London crashed and burned today 15 miles southwest of Quebec, killing all 79 persons aboard. It was the worst crash in Canadian aviation history.

The plane was presumably loaded with Canadian veterans returning from a holiday in Britain.

It had been chartered to the Imperial Veterans of Ontario, a branch of the Canadian Legion, and ex-President John Peacock said the plane undoubtedly was carrying members of the organization.

The plane crashed and burned near the village of Issoudun during a violent local thunderstorm. The wreckage was still ablaze four hours after it crashed.

Airmen Chute To Scene

Three airmen from Trenton, Ont., who jumped to the crash site radioed to their plane overhead: "There are no survivors."

The victims numbered 73 passengers and six crew members.

An airline spokesman said three infants were among the passengers.

A Royal Canadian Air Force pilot who flew over the crash scene said "All we could see was a big hole."

"The plane crashed on the north side of a wooded area and apparently burned right away," he said. "There was just a few bits of wing and tail around."

The greatest loss of life in a Canadian air crash previously was last December when a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane went down in the Rocky Mountains and 62 persons were killed.

Load Explosion Heard

Residents of the Issoudun area said they heard a loud blast about the time the four-engine DC4 went down.

It made its last radio report from over Quebec at 2:07 p.m. It crashed minutes later.

The plane was piloted by Norman Ramsay, 34, Montreal, a former Trans-Canada pilot who had been with Maritime Central for two years. The company described Ramsay as a "good, well-trained pilot," and a spokesman said some hours after the crash he had no idea what caused it.

Ramsay's pilot's license was suspended for six months in December 1954 after the crash of a Trans-Canada plane near Brampton, Ont. The crash was blamed officially on pilot negligence, but the Canadian Air Lines Pilots' Assn. said the pilot's fatigue due to overwork was responsible.

Thurmond Hints Of Demo Split

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (P)—Sen. Thurmond (D-SC), the States Rights candidate for president in 1948, today left open the possibility of another split from the Democratic party in 1960 as a result of the civil rights battle.

Thurmond, in a CBS-TV-Radio interview — "Face the Nation" — was careful to qualify his views by saying "it's difficult to say what's going to happen" and stressing that it mostly depends on who the Democrats and Republicans nominate.

Questioners asked him about the possibility of a third party if the Democrats nominated Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan for president and the Republicans nominate Vice President Nixon — both strong backers of civil rights legislation.

Under such circumstances, Thurmond said, "There would be a probability of a third party for the election, if not for a longer period."

Three Alpinists Plunge To Deaths

KANDERSTEG, Switzerland, Aug. 11 (P)—Three Swiss Alpinists fell to their deaths from 12,043-foot high Bluemlisalp Mountain early today.

The accident occurred during the descent from the mountain, which is some 12 miles west of the Eiger, scene of a large-scale rescue operation for two Germans and two Italians trapped for eight days.

Bars Found Pried Apart

Bank Bandit Who Escaped From State Prison Apparently Had Accomplices

BALTIMORE, Aug. 11 (AP)—Bank bandit Charles A. Wilson apparently had accomplices in his escape from the Maryland Penitentiary, officials said today.

The pint-sized, 24-year-old Wilson broke out of the gray-stone prison yesterday by prying window bars slightly apart and squeezing through a 6 1/4-inch opening, said Warden Vernon L. Peperack.

He said the tool used to force the bars a bit further apart than their normal five-inch spacing was a crudely fashioned assemblage of nuts and bolts, combined to operate along the lines of an automobile jack.

The tool and a wrench apparently used to operate it, said Peperack, were found inside the prison but not along the escape route. Wilson was believed to have taken the warden said Wilson probably made the break between 11 and 11:30 a.m. during "a period of movement" when prisoners were filing to lunch or recreation areas.

He was believed to have climbed a duct leading to a ledge beside a tall cellhouse window, pried the bars, cut an outside screen covering, dropped about 20 feet to the ground, and climbed a seven-foot iron rail fence.

The tools were found near an incinerator on the opposite side of the prison.

A guard spotted the slight change in the appearance of the bars over the cellhouse window, and a check was made to determine whether any prisoners were missing.

"We thought at first that he didn't get out," said Peperack after seeing the narrow gap through which the five-foot-two, 124-pound Wilson had shimmed.

Wilson was serving a 20-year sentence after being convicted of robbery, conspiracy and carrying a deadly weapon in connection with the April 1, 1954, holdup of an East Baltimore bank. Three other men and three women also were convicted in the $30,000 robbery.

Demo Regional Meetings Set For September

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP)—The Democratic National Committee announced today it will hold six regional conferences in September to deal with party organization and finances and new ways to get the issues before the voters.

Chairman Paul M. Butler said the meetings will inaugurate a program to build up party strength through a new deputy chairman for political organization and six regional representatives who will work with state party groups.

Butler has invited members of the national committee, state chairman and vice chairmen, Democratic governors and others to the two-day meetings in their respective regions.

National headquarters participants will include Butler, Mrs. Katie Louchheim, vice chairman for women's affairs; Drexel A. Sprecher, deputy chairman for political organization, and regional representatives.

Following are the dates for the regional conferences, where they will be held and the states included in each region:

Sept. 16-17, Raleigh, N. C. (Sir Walter Hotel), Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia.

Sept. 26-27, Toledo (Commodore Perry Hotel), Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Missouri, Ohio, West Virginia.

Sept. 30-Oct. 1, Boston (Sheraton-Plaza Hotel), Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont.

Baltimore Firemen Win Ticklish Battle

BALTIMORE, Aug. 11 (AP)—Firemen probably averted a major disaster here over the weekend after 50 gallons of gasoline leaked into the basement of a downtown parking garage.

The firefighters worked for 4 1/2 hours siphoning the overflow gasoline from the Epps Parking Co. building at Hanover and Redwood Streets.

American Oil Co. representatives said the gasoline somehow leaked through the cap of the basement tank Saturday, while it was being filled by one of their trucks from the outside.

Firemen first flooded the basement with about three feet of water, to dilute the gas and lessen the danger of an explosion. Then they turned on exhaust fans to drive out the fumes.

Tourists To Receive French "Dividend"

PARIS, Aug. 11 (AP)—The 600,000 foreign tourists in France get 20 per cent more for their money tomorrow when a sweeping new economic program goes into effect.

Finance Minister Felix Gaillard announced the measures last night in his latest effort to save the sagging French economy from collapse.

The most important step gives a 20 per cent premium on the official exchange rate of 350 francs to a U.S. dollar for those bringing in foreign currencies, desperately needed by France.

This lowers the value of the franc to 420 to the dollar for tourists and in effect means a devaluation for many sections of the economy.

At the same time, Frenchmen going abroad will have to pay 20 per cent more for foreign currencies.

Priest Answers Fake Sick Call, Rectory Robbed

SHICKSHINNY, Pa., Aug. 11 (AP)—A burglar entered the rectory of a Catholic church in nearby Mocanaqua and stole $750 after a phone conversation drew out the rectory's lone priest on a fake sick call.

The Rev. Stephen Yanak of the Church of the Ascension told police he received a call last night asking him to visit a house in the parish on an urgent sick call. When Father Yanak arrived at the address he was told there was no illness.

The money represented receipts from the annual church picnic held yesterday.

State Highway Mishaps Fatal To Six Persons

(By The Associated Press)

A Westminster man was killed Sunday when two cars collided on U.S. Route 140 on the outskirts of town. It raised the toll of fatalities on Maryland highways for the weekend to six.

Five persons died in accidents on Saturday, including a lifeguard reportedly chasing another automobile; two New Englanders, and two boys, aged 12 and 4.

A speedway crash also accounted for a Philadelphia racer whose midjet vehicle flipped over Sunday at the Conococheague track near Hagerstown.

State Police said there were 11 persons in one car and two in the other when they crashed at Malcolm Drive and Route 140 at Westminster at 2:29 p.m. Sunday.

Pronounced dead on arrival at University Hospital in Baltimore was Benjamin Yingling, 74, who was riding in a vehicle driven by Lawrence O. Sellman, 53, also of Westminster. Sellman was injured.

Police said the other car was operated by Theodore Kittlet of (2702 Boone St.) Baltimore. Eight other persons named Kittlet ranging in ages from 3 to 48 and living at the same Baltimore address were injured.

State Police said Ronald J. Polis, 21, of Philadelphia, was killed when his midjet racer rammed into another skidding vehicle and flipped over three times a Conococheague Speedway Sunday.

Hopeless Search

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., 11 (AP)—The search for an 88-year-old woman climber missing on Pikes Peak continued for the seventh day today.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Ripley said there is virtually no hope that Mrs. Inestine B. Roberts of Colorado Springs will be found alive.

Pair Of Deadly Pygmy Rattlesnakes Killed In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Aug. 11 (AP)—A shovel. They were lurking near an abandoned garage at the time. Frank Groves, reptile keeper at the city zoo, called them pygmy rattlers. He said the snakes, which are not native to Maryland, were highly dangerous.

There was no indication how the reptiles found their way into this well populated metropolis.

The places scraped or burned off and painted with Hold-Tite breathe and act as louvers or vents. The moisture present in the house comes out through these spots (louvers) in the form of vapor, drawn out by the sun. This is the same principle as if you had actually drilled holes and put louvers in your home. These spots (louvers) will help relieve the moisture pressure on the entire exterior surface of the house, even including where the old paint has not been removed. On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Aug. 11 (INS)—Antoinette Raponi was born October 12, 1944, six months after her father was killed flying with Maj. Gen. Claire Lee Chennault's 14th Air Force in China. Because of the tragedy, involving a man she was never to know, Antoinette will attend a university of her choice.

The 14th Air Force Association is made up of men who flew under Chennault's command during the war, and some who flew with him when he headed the Flying Tigers in the years immediately leading up to Pearl Harbor.

The association's education fund provides for the schooling of children of men who gave their lives in China and otherwise would not have the money to lay down at the registrar's office. It is doing wonderful work, needs a lift.

Chennault and his attractive wife, Anna Chan Chennault, will be in the U.S. until October, plugging the cause and reminding all within sound of their voices that free China still lives, breathes (though sometimes imperceptibly) and dreams of a day when freedom will reign on the vast mainland of China, too. We called on the warrior the other day and found him as tough and blunt as when we saw him in Kunming during the war.

Chennault has the face of a fifth head carved on Mt. Rushmore, weather-streaked, sun-beaten, wind-whipped.

A legend in his own time, he has been living dangerously since his days as an Army Air Corps lieutenant when he led one of the first acrobatic teams. His rough and tumble soldiers of fortune who fought the Jap air force in China in fiercely painted fighters knocked down 217 Japanese planes (at $500 a head to the victor) and lost only five. His 14th did wonders with little. His Chinese Nationalist Airlines retreated from the mainland with his friend Chiang Kai-Shek.

At 67, he would in all probability head up Chiang's U.S. made air force if tomorrow brought a head on clash with the reds across Formosa strait.

Here's Chennault on the Chinese situation:

"If the Chinese Nationalists hope to return to the mainland, they face a time limit. The Chinese Communists have killed between thirty million and forty million Chinese, mostly people who knew or worked with Americans. The youngsters are being taught to hate us and all our friends, like the Chinese Nationalists. In ten years, who knows how many will remain who knew us or want to?"

"I don't think the Red Chinese want to take Formosa, despite all the rantings and threats. They'd be content to let it die on the vine, though it won't. They'd like to get the generalissimo's people out of Quemoy and Matsu so their shipping could use the coastal ways without trouble. That's what they want, but they're not sure what the United States would do if they make a move. And neither is Chiang Kai-Shek sure. We have not said. In Korea they knew we wouldn't move, so they poured down over the 38th parallel."

"Our aid to Nationalist China has been more realistic of late. It has now a fine little defensive air force and small-boat navy. But its F-86s could easily be changed into fighter-bombers. Maybe that's why the Reds have stuck a half a million men along the 200-mile strip of the mainland opposite Formosa, and built six new jet-length runways."

"Economically, Formosa is the soundest country in the Far East. Its schools, hospitals and housing improves daily. Its exports of rice, sugar, peanut oil, turkeys, bananas and other products are phenomenal, considering its size. It asks only to survive."

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"The man next door wants to see you."

DAMSELS IN DISTRESS

The summer air pulsates with crime and it's all beginning to sound like the same one. "There's a man after me. I think he wants to kill me," says the terrified girl. "You don't believe me, do you?" Of course, they don't believe her; they assure her she's just being hysterical and to get a good night's rest. All but one guy. He believes her and five minutes before the half hour is up he prevents the dastardly deed from being done.

Of course, it's been done before but I can't remember when it's been done so often. Just to pick up recent examples, there was "Meet McGraw" (NBC-TV 9 p. m. EDT Tuesdays), a fairly new series starring Frank Lovejoy, who specializes in rescuing damsels in distress. Just the other day he was in a luncheon where he witnessed an innocent girl getting tossed into the jug for stealing. After bailing her out, the girl tells him: "He tried to kill me. You don't believe me, do you?" They say it all in one sentence, these poor girls, so confident are they of not being believed.

But as a matter of fact, Mr. McGraw did believe her and rescued her in the nick of time from the paranoiac killer who had had an unfortunate childhood. Most of these pretty girls, though not all, are being stalked by psychopaths. For instance on "Action Tonight" (NBC-TV 8:30 p. m. EDT Mondays) the other night Constance Cummings was warned by the filling station operator not to take that lonesome Colchester road. "There's been two murders in one year on that road. I wish you wouldn't, Mrs. Bailey."

But, of course, she went right ahead and it took the assistance of Everett Sloane, disguised as a woman, to rescue her from the paranoiac, who it developed was the filling station operator who occasionally got the urge to kill women. Of course, compulsive there's be so many on the streets if there weren't so many on TV. I remember an old police sergeant telling me that whenever a sex crime was reportedly too luridly in the press, it was followed by a rash of others. But the stimulating effect of a newspaper story can hardly match that of a TV show.

Any way, compulsive killers are on the whole dull. Simply an overpowering urge to throttle girls has nothing like the sustained interest of a good old fashioned motive like getting the insurance money or the diamonds. On George Sanders Mystery Theater (NBC-TV 9 p. m. EDT Saturdays), a real dull collection of whodunits, a blonde the other night gave the usual cry: "There's a man after me. I think he wants to kill me."

As a matter of fact, there wasn't one man after her. There were two and they both wanted to kill her but they had a very good reason. She's seen them killing someone else and they wanted her out of the way. Well, that's more like it. At least they had a good reason for throttling her. She was saved in the nick of time by a passing stranger who did believe her. There's always a passing stranger who will.

Another terrified blonde girl in distress was on one of the recent "Richard Diamond" shows to realize that. But I wonder if (CBS-TV 9:30 p. m. EDT Mondays)

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 11 (INS)—When Anthony Franciosa was here in conference with Buddy Adler and Jerry Wald, he didn't bow out of a 20th Century-Fox picture by any means. He agreed to do "The Long Hot Summer" based on a trilogy by William Faulkner. Irving Ratvich and Harriet Frank, Jr., adapted them from several short stories by Faulkner.

Wait a minute—that isn't all: Paul Newman, who also owes 20th a picture, has the other top role and, believe me, these are gusty parts that call for real he-men. There is a strong dramatic conflict between these two.

Martin Ritt, the young director who made everybody at 20th happy with his direction of "No Down Payment" gets the directorial assignment.

Howard Hughes, who never does things half way, believe me, has set aside a million dollars to exploit "Jet Pilot," made six years ago. He himself supervised the flying sequences and I am told the picture isn't a bit dated and that John Wayne and Janet Leigh, the stars, look just wonderful.

In a meeting held between RKO officials and Universal-International's top brass (which is releasing the RKO output) it was decided to go all-out in advertising and publicity.

RKO still owes Howard eight million dollars on the sale of the company, but he isn't taking the RKO studio back for motion picture production.

The Baer brothers, Maxie and Buddy, play brothers in "Once Upon a Horse," the Rowan and Martin comedy at U-I. In the picture the two boys try to get their sister, played by Ingrid Goude (Miss Sweden), a husband. Shouldn't be too difficult.

I can't remember the Baers ever playing together in the same picture. In fact, I haven't seen Maxie on the screen in years, not since he won the heavyweight boxing championship of the world and made a picture called "The Prize Fighter and the Lady" on the MGM lot. Maybe he has done some films in the interim and I just didn't happen to see them.

Don't ever say a woman can't keep a secret! I've known for four weeks that Irene Dunne received a letter from Washington apprising her of her pending appointment as a U. S. delegate to the United Nations. I was sworn to secrecy and didn't even hint the big news.

No, Irene didn't tell me, although she is one of my dearest and closest friends. She will serve her country well. She is intelligent, conscientious, and not a professional politician.

When the Senate confirms President Eisenhower's nomination of Irene, she will go to Washington to accept the honor given her. I wish I could go with her, and I may do just that.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random.

Is Colonel Paul D. Meyers, vice president and treasurer of Air-Week Corporation, the officer Mrs. Edward G. Robinson meant when she said she will marry a Colonel? Gladys and the colonel were at the Harwyn Club in New York.

Tis said Swiss millionaire Hans De Schultiss, who bought the General Film Lab, will marry Connie Travers, Los Angeles girl, next month.

The night after Joy Windsor obtained her freedom from ork leader Charlie Barnett, she was back with her old flame, Paul Ellis, at the Mocambo to hear John Carroll.

Jimmy Stewart planes out for Akron, Ohio, to be grand marshal of the annual Soap Box Derby on August 18.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

notion as this. The truth is, the only time that overweight need not be a matter of concern is before the age of 21. And then, only five pounds is allowable. This is because it is better to be slightly over than under your ideal weight to allow for growth.

Par At 25

After 30 however, your health will be better if you are five pounds underweight instead of overweight. Your correct weight at 25 is your correct weight the rest of your life. This fact is now agreed upon by experts generally. Since it is also agreed that the variable should not exceed five pounds even between the teens and 30, it is certainly wise to be very sure of what your correct weight is.

You can't be sure from standard tables. Your bone structure and your height have too much to do with it. That's why we have a booklet for you that shows exactly how to determine your own correct weight—a system that starts by measuring your wrist and calculating accurately from there. Write to me and say you want the "How Much Should You Weigh?" booklet and we'll send it to you free for the asking. Please address me at this newspaper.

The right weight for another girl of your height may be the wrong weight for you. It's time you found out for certain.

In Memoriam

In memory of my dear Pop, William M. Brant, who passed away 6 years ago, August 12, 1951.
I do not need a special day to bring you to my mind.
The days I do not think of you are very close to find.
He is missed by
GEORGIA

In memory of our beloved daughter, Barbara Lea Clark, who died one year ago, August 12th, 1956.
No stain was on her little heart.
Sin had not entered there;
And innocence slept sweetly on
That pale white brow so fair.
She was too pure for this cold earth.
Too beautiful to stay.
And so God's holy angel bore
Our darling one away.
Sadly missed by her
Father, Mother and Brother.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

♠ 4 2 ♠ 6 8 7 4 3 ♠ A J 9 7 5 2
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 spade 2 clubs ?
What do you bid?

A.—Pass. While it is tempting to double, such strategy is not recommended for someone is sure to rescue. If West should now run to hearts and partner doubles that bid, you will not know what action to take.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable. You have 30 part score and as South you hold:

♠ A 9 7 6 5 4 3 ♠ 9 4 ♠ A Q 7 6
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 spade Double Redouble 2 diamonds 2 spades Pass 3 hearts Pass ?
What do you bid now?

A.—Despite possession of the seven card suit, your preference is for a pass. Partner's redouble does not necessarily show spade support. A three heart bid, however, must designate a very good suit. When you bid two spades, ignoring partner's redouble which calls for your pass on the next round, partner should have gathered that you had a very big spade suit. Nevertheless, he chose to bid hearts, and that would be our choice for the final trump.

Q. 3—As South you hold:

♠ K 5 3 ♠ A J 6 ♠ A K 10 7 ♠ Q 8 3
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 no trump Pass Pass 1 heart Pass ?
What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. When partner passed your own no trump bid he made it clear that there was no hope to go places. He is now merely competing for a part score with some very weak hand containing perhaps five diamonds.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

♠ A Q J ♠ A K 6 2 ♠ 10 8 4 J 7 4
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 spade Double Redouble Pass ?
What do you bid?

A.—While this hand contains the textbook requirements for a jump to three no trump, our own preference is for a cue bid of two diamonds which is forcing to game. This might more readily lead to a slam in the minor suit if partner's hand is unbalanced, a slam which might not be available at no trump.

Area Soldier Dies, 10 Hurt In Accidents

Garrett County Youth Critical

A 34-year-old serviceman from Piedmont was fatally injured, 10 persons were hurt, one critically, in a series of weekend accidents, including a spectacular crash at the Bedford County Fair car races.

M. Sgt. Thomas Albert Grove Jr., who has been in the Army for 17 years, died about 7 p. m. Saturday in a hospital at Fort Campbell, Ky. as a result of injuries sustained in a car accident.

A 17-year-old Friendsville area youth was reported in "critical" condition at Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland last night suffering from injuries sustained in a one-car crash early yesterday morning about six miles east of Friendsville on State Route 42.

The victim, Randall Eugene Lowdermilk, RD 1, Friendsville, was unconscious last night according to attaches.

Stanley Eston Propst, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Propst, RD 4, city, was in "serious" condition at Memorial Hospital where he was admitted last night with injuries sustained in a one-car crash on Murley's Branch Road.

Driver Unconscious

State Police said Propst, who is unconscious, sustained a fractured collar bone, severe lacerations of his left arm, undetermined head and internal injuries, severe shock and multiple abrasions and contusions about his entire body.

Trooper C. W. Lewis said Propst was traveling on the Murley's Branch Road about 10 miles east of Cumberland at a high rate of speed.

As he rounded a right curve, the driver lost control of the car which ran off the right of the highway and came to a rest on its top about 250 feet from the highway.

Propst was thrown about 30 feet from the vehicle. The accident occurred at 7:55 p. m.

Sergeant Grove was stationed at the Kentucky base, where he lived with his wife and son who were in Piedmont this weekend attending a family reunion.

Mrs. Grove received a telegram informing her of her husband's death. He was a platoon sergeant and was a member of an Airborne Division, and served in World War II and the Korean conflict.

He was sent overseas on five different occasions having served in Germany, Japan, Alaska, and Korea. Born in Piedmont, he was a son of the late Thomas A. and Edna (Youst) Grove.

Sergeant Grove was a member of Kelly-Mansfield Post 52, American Legion, Piedmont and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Surviving besides his wife and son is a sister, Mrs. Ida Mae Mayhew, of Wellsburg, W. Va. The body will be taken to the Boal Funeral Home in Westernport.

Has Internal Injuries

The Lowdermilk youth suffered a compound fracture and badly mangled left arm, compound fracture of the left leg and internal injuries.

Tfc. Charles H. DeWitt said Lowdermilk was driving west on State Route 42 from U. S. Route 219 in the direction of Friendsville. He apparently dozed at the wheel and as the car went out of control it crossed the highway and struck a bridge abutment on the south side of the road.

Eight spectators attending the Bedford County Fair were injured on Saturday when a racing car locked wheels with another and flipped over, crashing through a fence into the crowd.

Admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital were Michael Reffner, eight, of New Enterprise, Pa., who was in "good" condition, William Franks, 47, of Dawson, Pa., who was discharged yesterday and John Sproat, of Bedford, who was reported in "fair" condition.

Treated at the institute for abrasions and contusions were Patricia Meyers, 38, and Joann Meyers, 11, both of Windber, Pa.; Carl Blankley, 52, of Everett, and Junior Hall, 35, of RD 1, Ohio-pyle, Pa.

The near-tragic accident took place during the second heat of the second race at the half-mile dirt track at the Bedford Fairgrounds. The operator of the auto that flipped over into the spectators was not identified, and apparently escaped injury in the accident.

Youth, 19, Caught After Hit-Run Accident In W. Va.

A 19-year-old Wiley Ford youth is being held in Ridgeley after being chased into Cumberland by West Virginia police after a hit-and-run accident on Frankfort Road near the Miltenberger farm.

Harold Robinette was arrested by City Officer Clarence Valentine who risked injury to grab the steering wheel of the youth's car as he turned onto the temporary bridge over Wills Creek at Baltimore Street. The move by the officer caused Robinette's vehicle to smash into the side of the bridge, bringing him to a halt.

Assistant Police Chief Blair Haines of Ridgeley said he gave chase after Robinette's car through Ridgeley at a high rate of speed. Officer Valentine said he realized something was amiss when he saw the Ridgeley police cruiser chase Robinette's car over the Potomac River bridge onto Greene Street.

Valentine at the time was directing traffic at the end of the temporary bridge.

Two West Virginia motorists said Robinette drove his car between their vehicles as they were passing on Frankfort Road, striking both cars.

Apparently uninjured in the collision were the drivers, Homer E. Comer, 45, of Ridgeley, and Alfred Comer, 24, of Wiley Ford.

Vehicles Must Sound Sirens In Emergency

BALTIMORE, Aug. 11 (P)—The attorney general asserted that an emergency vehicle, such as an ambulance or police cruiser, must have its sirens wailing or exhaust whistle screaming if it is to have the right-of-way.

A flashing red light is desirable, he said, but the sounding alarm is "indispensable to highway safety."

Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert gave the formal opinion at the request of Baltimore City Police Commissioner James M. Hepbron.

It stemmed from a collision of a police car with a private auto last fall. The cruiser had its flashing red light in operation but no siren.

Suspect Admits Burning $25,000 In Stolen Bonds

Oliver Rockett, 53, of Baltimore, has admitted to State Police that he burned some $25,000 in savings bonds taken from a Friendsville hardware store safe on July 29.

Cpl. Samuel Conrad said last night that Rockett admitted on Saturday that the bonds were torn in two and given to him. He put them in a sack and burned them in the backyard of his home in Baltimore.

Corporal Conrad has asked Baltimore authorities to check on the evidence the bonds had been burned. However, he has received no verification from Baltimore police.

Authorities sifted ashes located at a spot in West Virginia where some papers taken from the safe had been burned but they found no evidence of the bonds.

Rockett and Ellwood Kissner, 26, formerly of Friendsville, are lodged in Garrett County Jail charged with burglary and grand larceny of $37,510, including the bonds, from the safe of the F. G. Fox and Sons Hardware Store in Friendsville.

A third man is being sought by authorities who have issued a 17-state alarm for his arrest. Kissner guided Cpl. Conrad to a private road leading to the farm of Pat Crene, about five miles north of Albright, in neighboring Preston County, W. Va., where he found charred papers and the remnants of wooden drawers from the safe.

Unburned tax forms and parts of a brass lock were identified by Corporal Conrad as belonging to the safe.

Some of the cash has been recovered. About $4,400 was discovered under a rockpile near Friendsville.

Signs Bonus Act

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 11 (P)—Gov. Cecil Underwood has signed into law an act of the Legislature to clear the way for financing of a bonus to West Virginia veterans of the Korean War.

Robert L. Jeffrey Seeks House Of Delegates Post

Robert Lee Jeffrey, 26, son of the late George F. S. Jeffrey of Lonaconing, last night announced his intention to apply to the Allegany County GOP Committee for consideration to fill the vacancy in the Maryland House of Delegates created by his father's death last Thursday.

Drought May Bring State Irrigation Law

Southern Maryland Senators Meet

[By The Associated Press] Drought-parched Maryland, turned down on its request for federal government aid, may be going to help itself—with irrigation.

Saturday brought two major developments in the drought situation which has wrecked Maryland's crops this summer:

1. The White House turned down Maryland's request that 10 counties be declared drought disaster areas, but Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams suggested that other federal agencies might be able to help.

2. Legislators and farm interests, meeting in Southern Maryland, named a special seven-member committee to draw up an irrigation program and try to sell it to the public between now and convening of the General Assembly next February.

Attending the meeting, on the farm of Washington attorney David Hume near Bryansville, Md., were the five Southern Maryland senators, delegates from St. Marys and Charles counties, officials of the Maryland Farm Bureau and the University of Maryland's extension service.

Senate President Louis Goldstein (D-Calvert), who called the meeting, said other members would be added later.

"We have enough of a nucleus to draft a statute and hold public hearings on it," he said. "These people can understand the problem and get something done."

Previous attempts to get state irrigation laws through the Legislature have met with failure. Sen. Goldstein said he felt this was because they were not properly presented—either to the public or the legislators.

Sen. Mattingly (D-St. Marys) heads the committee, which plans to meet later in Central and Western Maryland, and on the Eastern Shore.

The White House announcement said Maryland drought conditions—while distressing—are not of sufficient severity and magnitude to constitute a major disaster.

Adams suggested that the Farmers' Home Administration and the Agricultural Conservation Program both will share with farmers the cost of re-establishing drought-destroyed grass and legume cover, and other work.

Dr. Paul E. Nystrom, director of the university's extension service, said he doubted that either agency could offer much help.

"The ACP has limited funds which are almost exhausted," he said, "although the FHA could provide some credit for people in real distress."

Polling Places Are Listed Today

Polling places for tomorrow's tax limitation referendum appear in an advertisement in Page 8 today.

The official election notice also lists the form of the proposed amendment which is being put to a referendum.

Tax Limitation Vote Planned Here Tomorrow

Mayor And Council Split 4-1 On Issue

Voters in the City of Cumberland will go to the polls tomorrow to cast ballots in the first referendum to be held here under constitutional home rule.

The election will also mark the first time voting machines are used in a City of Cumberland election.

The question to be put to the 12,850 citizens who are eligible to cast ballots in the special election is:

"The Mayor and City Council shall have authority to raise the tax limitation for general purposes, not to exceed one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per each one hundred dollars ($100.00) of assessable property."

The ballot will be cast by turning down a voting pointer over for or against the question.

Voting will take place in 20 precincts, which are listed in the city's Notice of Election on Page 18, and poll: will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Petition Validated

The Mayor and Council on April 22 adopted a charter amendment resolution to increase the limit on city taxes for operating purposes from $1.25 to $1.50.

Under Home Rule law, the charter change would have become effective if uncontested for 40 days.

Shortly before the deadline, referendum petitions containing 5,002 names were submitted to the Mayor and Council.

The special election was set for tomorrow after the Mayor and Council ruled the petitions contained the needed 2,548 signatures.

Four members of the Mayor and Council yesterday urged citizens to vote for the boost in the tax limitation and the fifth said he hoped the move would be defeated.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the primary justification for the authority is to provide a cushion for reasonable increases in wages and salaries for city employees.

Commissioner William H. Buchholz urged residents to vote for the proposal so "we may provide the people with more and better services, which they have been requesting for the last several years."

Commissioner William J. Edwards said the issue was whether the city should go forward or backward and said an increase in the limitation does not mean an immediate increase of 25 cents on the tax bill, but merely gives council authority to use that portion of the increase necessary for present needs.

Commissioner William V. Keegan said first rate service cannot be provided by maintaining an arbitrary limitation set several years ago and that if the city is given the authority he will do his part to see it is used judiciously.

Commissioner John J. Long said as a member of the Council he voted for the ordinance to raise the tax limitation but as a taxpayer hopes it will be defeated, adding that under such a move the Mayor and Council would have to practice every economy, adding it is time additional revenues of taxation are found to spread the costs of city services.

Both the delegate and committee posts will be filled until the general election in November of 1958.

Mr. Sloan is a trustee of the Lonaconing Republican Club, and is employed at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America.

Both the delegate and committee posts will be filled until the general election in November of 1958.

A group of 40 delegates from the local Jehovah's Witnesses congregation, headed by William T. Toepfer, presiding minister, will attend a five-day convention at Memorial Stadium, Baltimore, August 21-25.
